TO SPEAK ON SUNDAY

Those who have attended the various functions during Re-union period have become conscious of the fact that McGill is indeed standing at a mile-stone, looking back over the way by which it has arrived—a way rocky and difficult in places, but glorious; and forward along the road which must now be taken—a road which is full of promise, not of ease, but of stern effort and solid achievement.

It is most fitting that the last great event of the Re-union should be a University Church Service conducted with academic dignity, yet with impressive simplicity. Who does not feel that in some indefinable way the hand of God has been in the moulding of McGill as she now stands? Who is there who does not recognize that her future depends more upon spiritual qualities in her life than upon any other factor?

The service to be held on Sunday, October 16th, at 4.30 p.m. in St. James Methodist Church, has been carefully planned to meet adequately the challenge of a great occasion. It will be conducted by Dean Ritchie, and Principal Currie is to have a part. The speaker will be the Rev. Geo. C. Pidgeon, D.D., a graduate of Arts '91, at present minister of Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Dr. Pidgeon is known throughout Canada as a man with a message for the age, and as possession peculiar power with men; a man of vision whose eye is toward the future and whose heart is young. He will be well remembered by many who have heard him in the army huts overseas.

REV. GEO. C. PIDGEON

The choir will be composed of 70 McGill men and women under the leadership of Mr. Harold Kee. Some of the music practiced by the McGill Choir for an earlier part of the Reunion program will be used. Mr. Murray Brooks is reviving a once famous McGill Quartette for the occasion.

Graduates have been supplied with special tickets for the service. Students will be admitted on their grounds tickets. It is expected that every unit of the University will be fully represented at this last meeting of the Reunion, perhaps the most important of all.

UNIVERSITY SPORTS ARE MAIN EVENT

Old Boys' Race an Added Feature

ROOTERS OUT

Much New Material to Be Seen in Action

The big event to-day will be the University Sports which will take place at the Stadium commencing at two o'clock. It is hardly necessary to comment upon the importance of this event to the student body as a whole, but it might not be amiss to remind certain recent arrivals that the occasion of the University Sports demands the presence of every man in the college.

To-day's sports are rendered doubly important by reason of the many graduates who will be in attendance. It is to be hoped that the student body will not fail to impress their predecessors with a creditable showing of college spirit. Furthermore let it be remembered that this will be the last opportunity the Rooters will have to bellow forth before the Varsity game on Saturday and it is therefore necessary that they receive full support.

If the entry list, which closed on Wednesday, many be taken as a criterion of the success, to-day's event will be well worthy of Centennial week.

McGill is the fortunate possessor of several athletes of no mean ability. Outstanding are such men as R. L. Hamilton who will run in the middle-distance events, and who is also a star on the Harrier Team.

Hamilton together with such men as Antliff, Kennedy, Johnson, Hay and Foss have upheld the honour of McGill for several years past. There are also many recent additions of no small value. All these men are entered for to-day's events and it may therefore be taken for granted that from an athletic standpoint the sports will be an unqualified success.

All that remains in order to make this a certainly is the unstinted support of the students.

Below is a list of the entries

GRADS PLAN ENDOWMENT FOR MCGILL

One of Many Proposals at Monster Meeting

FINE SPEECHES

Alumni and Alumnae Gathered to Discuss Future OF MCGILL

The meeting of the Graduates of Old McGill at the Capitol Theatre yesterday morning was, to say the least, extraordinarily successful and enthusiastic. That it well merited the appellation of "mass meeting," was amply demonstrated by the fact that well over 2,000 men and women Graduates of Old McGill came together to discuss the affairs of their Alma Mater and to offer suggestions for her betterment. Among the latter was the idea of the inception of a Graduates Endowment Fund, which should strive to do away with the constant calls that are made upon the pockets of wealthy and philanthropic citizens. It was also proposed to have re-unions of Grads at more frequent periods than every century. The suggestion was made that these "homecomings," as Dr. Campbell Howard so aptly called them — should be held every five years, or even every two or three years. The motion seemed to find hearty approval with those present; and so it is not unlikely that the undergraduates of McGill and the citizens of Montreal will, in a few years, begin to witness at frequent intervals scenes such as have been common for the last two days. Taking the meeting as a whole, it expressed but optimism, hope, and enthusiasm for the future of Old McGill.

Another proposal that, while no definite action was taken upon it, is yet of the greatest moment, was the admission of non-graduates to the Graduate Society. The term non-graduate refers only to those who, while they pursued some course of study at McGill, were unable to receive a degree. It was cited, in support of the idea, that James McGill himself had not been a university graduate.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 11 a.m. by Paul F. Sise, President of the Graduates Society. After a few introductory words, Mr. Sise called upon Sir Arthur Currie to deliver his address of welcome to the Graduates. "Sir Arthur," said Mr. Sise, "is a man of whom the whole of Canada may well be proud, but particularly we of McGill."

Sir Arthur gave a most able and touching address; his opening words will give the main tenor of his welcome. "I have been asked," he said, "to bid you welcome home to McGill, but after the inspiration of yesterday and this morning's meeting, it seems to me that words of welcome are almost futile and unnecessary, and indeed almost out of place. There are many of you who have been away on many occasions from your natural mothers, over long spaces of time that covered pregnant intervals maybe, and on returning home you received uproarious and enthusiastic welcomes from your friends and relations. But from your mothers you probably received nothing but outstretched arms, with a proud glance and a pat on the back, because her heart was too full for utterance. And it is with those feelings that Alma Mater welcomes you back to the first homecoming after a hundred years."

THE OLD MCGILL SPIRIT

College spirit is a subject that is often dealt with in speeches and editorials but it seems to take on a new meaning in these days of the Graduates' Reunion. For a hundred years men have been passing through McGill and going out to take their place in world affairs and carrying with them the traditions of McGill.

What is it that brings old graduates back from the four corners of the globe to be present at this, the hundredth birthday of McGill?

College spirit may have lain dormant all these years, but the Old McGill spirit was there just the same, awaiting the call of their Alma Mater.

The esprit de corps which is inculcated in college means more than mere loyalty to the Alma Mater. It means that every McGill man becomes a member of a huge fraternity embracing McGill men of all years and faculties. All McGill men are the same the world over, no introductions are needed between them. The mere mention of the fact of being a McGill grad. makes a bond of union.

In the sports today, and in the big game tomorrow, there will be the nearest approach to a real definition of College Spirit. With the stadium filled as it never was filled before, with two thousand graduates, and organized bands of Rooters, both men and women, and all wishing and shouting and cheering for McGill, is that not College Spirit? The very air will be charged with the spirit of Old McGill and the team on the field cannot help but feel it.

The spirit displayed by the old "Daily" men in coming down and helping out the present editors is worthy of commendation. That college spirit is a lasting thing is clearly demonstrated by every grad. one talks to.

These stirring times will long be remembered by the undergraduate body of today.

With Dr. Gordon J. Laing introduced to McGill at yesterday's Convocation, Arts has seen her newly-appointed Dean make his debut. The "hub" faculty of the University, although it has had to wait for some considerable time for the desired completion, is once more fully equipped. It is with all sincerity that McGill gives a cordial welcome to the newcomer. He fills a large place in the affairs of the University: his popularity and his constant success at the University of Chicago goes to show that Chicago's loss is indeed McGill's gain.

The Track Club welcomes her Toronto visitors. Although the track meet is not a dual one, the visiting relay team have very materially contributed towards giving the sports an intercollegiate interest. The old rivals meet for the first encounter of the year this afternoon. Once again a fighting Varsity against a fighting McGill.

Official figures given out by the Registry Bureau as the "Daily" goes to press show that three thousand and eight graduates have come back for the Re-union. This total surpasses the highest expectation of even the most liberal estimator. It is another tribute to the Alma Mater that her alumni hasten to flock back to the old campus that has meant so much in the life of each.

The corner-stone in the construction of the McGill Graduates' Society has been laid. Yesterday's meeting at the Capitol was the occasion. Solidity for the future is assured—its foundation will not quiver and process of time will never wear it down. From now on, on the strength of today's assembly, the keynote of the Society can not be other than expansion. Despite difficulties and obstacles encountered, the Society has forged ahead—all the time hoping for a climax such as today's meeting. The goal has been attained. The growth is going to keep on. We of undergraduate McGill of today are going to be with it in its growth. The old college motto, "Grandescunt aucta labore" has carried it on to its present success: the same motto will be maintained—the Graduates' Society must ever grow!

IT'S FUNNY

In this metrified prose we attempt to disclose.

(Un)thinking of fame or of money)
 The use and abuse both profound and profuse.

Of the sentinel syllables, "funny".
 Now Adolphus has seen it an old magazine.

A quip that is ancient and punny.
 Either fault would condemn it. But with mirth, (he can't stem it),
 He chortles, "Oh Lord, but it's funny.
 When a man's life ebbs low and his dim eyes don't know.

If it's midnight or twilight or sunny,
 He reviews with a smile, his life, in this style:

"It's good and it's bad, but it's funny."
 In the idylls of May at the twilight of day.

Says a swain, "Oh mellifluous Honey,
 You have butter-scotch curls and your eye-teeth are pearls.
 And I love you so much that it's funny."

There lies poor McSpadden in a wreck that would gladden.
 The heart of your kid brother Sonny.
 "But what gets me sore," he lips thru its gore,
 "It wasn't that accident funny!"
 Now this off-rhyming prose has come to a close.

And brought us no merit or money.
 But with this we can't cope: that with such funny dope,
 It's funny the verse isn't funny.

—The Princetonian

"SHOTS"

Just think of it. One of our frosh in an Econ. class, when asked where the most corn was grown, answered, "In the foot hills."

"Well, now I've got my work pretty well lined up," sighed the washwoman, after hanging out the last batch.

An authority states that a man who can handle a typewriter and a woman is a stenographer and an undertaker.

"Did you wire Jack?"
 "Of course not. I was just stringing him along."

Jack says that he can't believe that all our co-eds are as bad as they're painted.

"I woke up this morning and found a corpse in bed with me."
 How's that?"
 "My bunkie killed it on my back."

"Didn't see you fussing last night?"
 "Of course not. The lights went out with us."

Simon says he went down to watch football practice last night. He says he learned an awful lot about co-ed hockey.

ROSE ROOM WAS SCENE OF BANQUET

Classes of 1900-10 Dinner Was Joyful Occasion

500 PRESENT

Grads Will Not Soon Forget Last Night's Dinner

The Rose Room at the Windsor Hotel has no doubt seen many banquets, but it is safe to say that no more representative body of men has ever gathered there than that of last night, when upwards of 500 graduates of the years 1901-10 held their class dinner. To many of those present last night will stand out as the brightest spot in the whole celebration. It was a real reunion, no one looking at the faces of the grads. could deny that. Truly, the couplet printed on the menu cards, "Absence with all its pains, Is by this charming moment, waived away," was well chosen.

The Rose Room was decorated with McGill colours and draped around with Union Jacks. The tables, which were of different sizes to suit each class were decorated with red and white carnations.

Science '08 went one better than the rest and their table was decorated with a string of red and white balloons held from the table. These presently were released and found their way to all corners of the room, producing a most striking effect. The seating was arranged by faculties, Arts were in the middle, with Science and Medicine on either side.

"Once a college man, always a college man", and this saying was amply proved tonight, for by fifteen minutes after the start of the dinner grizzled grads. were once more the light hearted students of their youth. Freshies caps were donned and class vied with class in the production of the most noise. Science '03, ably aided by a gentleman with a large McGill pendant around his neck, seemed to be in line for the prize for the best yell, but Med. '06 was pressing them hard. The appearance of the Law grads. from the Oak Room, was the signal for an outburst of cheering which was sustained while the rejuvenated lawyers let loose their surplus energy by doing a snake dance around the hall before returning to their sanctum in the Oak Room.

The McGill yell given in a manner and rival the thundering thousand at their best was now given and the company dispersed to the smokers which followed the dinner.

NOVEL EVENTS HELD LONG AGO

Sports of 1873 Witnessed on Old Campus by Many

With the return of our graduates have come a great number of very interesting mementos of college life at McGill during the last half century or more. One of these souvenirs is particularly interesting in view of the university sports which are to be held this afternoon. It is the programme of the university sports which were held forty eight years ago.

In 1873, long before the wonderful Stadium which we now have was even dreamed of, the sports were held on the Old Campus. They began at half past ten and lasted all day, and eighteen events were run off. All faculties were represented among the winners, but Medicine seems to have been the most successful as the Meds were victorious in more than half the events.

It is most interesting to compare the list of events of that time with those of the present. The dashes, the distance races and the jumps were much the same then as they are now. Throwing the cricket ball took the place which putting the shot now holds and kicking the football was also one of the competitions. A race for members of the university Rifle Corps in their regimental uniforms and a three legged race were the only events which we would be surprised to see nowadays, but these must have been very interesting.

When one considers what McGill athletes did fifty years ago it is little to be wondered at that the University stands in the front rank in all lines of sport. As in all other departments of college activity those who went before have paved the way.

"THE FRESHMAN"

It was just a few short years ago, Jim was but a boy
 With youthful pranks and merry laugh
 Made the school-house on of joy.
 But now he's grown up like a map,
 Mother thinks the world of him,
 And says there's not a freshtette that's Half good enough for him.

DO YOU?

These co-eds are a noisy lot,
 I like 'em;
 They make you blow the cash you've got,
 I like 'em;
 They call you tight, they think you're green,
 Unless you shell out every bean,
 They're the worst darn pests I've ever seen,
 I like 'em —Octopus.

"Girls, spread out your wings there."
 A bacteriology prof states that kissing is merely the exchanging of bacteria. What a scientific way of looking at it!

GRADUATES OF 1910-11 HELD HAPPY REUNION

Sumptuous Dinner at Windsor Last Evening

MANY LECTURES

Class and College Yells Gave Vent of Feelings of Those Present

A large number of graduates of McGill 1910-21 were gathered in the Windsor Hotel last evening to celebrate McGill's 100th birthday at a sumptuous dinner which was a huge success. The spirit of Old McGill pervaded the Windsor Hotel from one end to the other, and the men of 1910-21, gathered in Windsor Hall, made manifest their interest and pep by frequent McGill yells from start to finish.

Windsor Hall was tastefully decorated in red and white, with supplementary effects, supplied by allied flags. The pillars on both sides of the hall were draped in red and white bunting, while the colors of the Allies hung between the pillars, and the tables were decorated with red and white carnations. The men were seated at oblong tables, and completely filled the large hall. Each college class had a table, and it was a sight for sore eyes to see the old college chums meet who had not seen each other for years.

The younger alumni turned out in large numbers, and many faces familiar to men still in college were seen there as well as a smaller number of graduates from the years '10-'15. These men had not forgotten their class yells, as was evident from their conduct all through the dinner. Besides the class yells, the McGill yells were frequently repeated by the ardent diners. Prominent leaders of yells were Bill Hughes and Archie Jenks, former rooters' leaders for the big athletic events.

As usual the dinner provided by the Windsor was excellent, and both the food and the music were greatly appreciated by those present. Throughout the dinner the men of all classes could be seen walking about the Hall and greeting old friends that they had not seen for years. A spirit of splendid good fellowship was the most noticeable feature of the dinner held by these younger alumni of Old McGill. It was splendid to see such a fine gathering of the sons of Old McGill at the big dinner, which is probably the event of greatest interest to the out of town graduates. They showed college spirit to a degree seldom seen among the present students, who could learn much from their forerunners.

About nine o'clock the dinner was over, and the crowds from all the dinners merged to cap the evening with an interesting and jolly smoker.

I stubbed my toe and swore, just once;
 'Twas as we walked the track.
 She slapped me hard upon the mouth
 And then I slapped her back.

FIRST MEETING OF MACCABEANS

Sunday, Oct. 16th at 2.30.

The opening meeting of the Maccabean Circle will take place on Sunday, Oct. 16, at 2.30 o'clock, in the Army and Navy Veterans Hall, 602 St. Catherine West.

As the representative organization of the Jewish student body at McGill since 1905, the Circle has enjoyed a highly successful career; and with the programme of every meeting already arranged, this year bids fair to outshine all former ones in its history. Otto Klineberg, M.A., Med. '24 holds the presidency for this year, and promises an interesting programme for all coming meetings.

With several hundred past members of the Circle registered at the Centennial Headquarters, it is hoped that as many of them as possible may be present at the opening meeting. Men who knew the Maccabean Circle in its infancy, with a membership of fifteen or twenty, will see what strides it has made both in point of membership and realization of purpose.

At the opening meeting on Sunday, Jacob Viner, B. A., of the staff of Chicago University and at present temporarily filling Dr. Leacock's place in the Economics department here, will address the Circle on "Labour and the Jew". Mr. Viner is a past president of the Maccabean Circle and was a member of the class of Arts '14.

The meeting at the Army and Navy Veterans Hall on Sunday is open to all past members, and members, and everyone interested in the Society. The Intercollegiate Memorial Society of America to which the Maccabean Circle is affiliated is distinctly non-sectarian, and intended to further the study of Jewish literature and Jewish topics, at the colleges of the United States and Canada.

SERENADING BROUGHT STRICTLY UP TO DATE

In days of old a fair lady was often awakened at midnight by the tinkle of a guitar and a masculine voice singing bits of classic melody. Opening the casement the moonlight disclosed a tall youth with long curls, clad in velvet doublet, long hose and buckled slippers. Hid behind the climbing roses she would listen enraptured to the lovesome tune, and when it was finished, would pluck a rose and, pressing it to her lips, cast it with a sigh to her lover below.

But now all is changed and modern jazz combined with a drifting away from the "one" fair lady stuff to a general falling for everything feminine has left this quaint but simple method of sparkling far behind.

Today a similar performance is not even thought of as courting; sometimes a wild night out; other times it is merely an exhibit of masculine abilities to sing and play.

Nowadays they come to a group house where there are a great many fair ladies. It is not the mere picking of notes on a guitar that arouses the fair ones from their slumbers, but a real jazz orchestra, piano, saxophone, traps and all.

Officials, and those entered for today's track meet will enter the grounds by the Pine Avenue gate.

MACCABEANS HOLD OPENING
The opening meeting of the Maccabean Circle will be held at the Army and Navy Veterans Hall, 602 St. Catherine St. West, at 2.30 p.m., Sunday, October 16th. Jacob Viner, B.A., will lecture on "Labour and the Jew."

No rose marks the end of the concert, with milady's fond esteem, but loud claps and calls for "More" distinctly unfeminine hurry the 1921 serenades to the next group house.
Thus, the "old order changed to the new", and modern jazz reigns supreme.

D. WALTER MUNN APPOINTED PROF.

Mr. D. Walter Munn has just gone to Halifax to take up his new duties as Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the Technical college. He was born in Quebec and received his early education in the schools of that old "Fortress City." He graduated from the Applied Science Faculty at McGill with the degree of Bachelor of Science and later secured his Master of Science here. Later he pursued a post-graduate course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston and secured another M. Sc. from this famous college.

He has had a long and varied experience in teaching in the public schools and in college work. He acted as a demonstrator at McGill, as Assistant Professor of Engineering in Queen's University, as Assistant Professor of Engineering in McGill University-College in Vancouver for five years, and as Professor of Engineering in the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.

His industrial experience has also been long and varied. He has acted as student apprentice with the Allis-Chalmers-Bullock Co., and draftsman with John McDonald, Caledonia Iron works and as designer with the Algoma Steel Corporation. His positions of chief responsibility were as Assistant Engineer

OLD GRAD BRINGS IN OLD NEWS ITEM

James and Andrew McGill & Co. Advertise Their Wares in 1806

Yesterday afternoon an old grad. walked into the "Daily" office and up to the Editor's desk. To all intents and purposes there is nothing strange in having a visitor at the office, but—this gentleman proved a find.

His silvery white beard suggested that might perhaps be a grandfather while the athletic steps in his walk proved that he was an athlete in his day. In short, in his college days, he must have chosen the happy medium, so seldom found by most of us.

As he sat chatting with the editor, one could discern, in the traces of his face, and in the light in his eyes that he was talking of things very dear to him—his recollections of undergraduates days. He very kindly suggested that while the University excitement was on, and the grand army of graduates from the four quarters of the globe are marching on to this city. He would send, an item from his collection on good old McGill every day. And this is what he handed the Editor:—

"The subscribers have on hand a quantity of Carrot Tobacco manufactured in London, which they will sell cheap for cash or on short credit.—

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH

Old McGill

SHE'S ALL RIGHT, OH! YES! YOU BET!!

The hand and heart of Montreal go out to welcome "home" the boys of old McGill, and nowhere will the greeting carry more zest or sincerity than here for this

CANADA'S NATIONAL FUR HOUSE
has grown up with
CANADA'S NATIONAL UNIVERSITY.
When your Alma Mater was but "a girl in her teens," the House of HOLT, RENFREW & COMPANY was established. Like the University, it has grown steadily in importance and accomplishments, and now it is the foremost of the Land—truly a National Institution, with branches in the four metropolises of Canada and doing business from Coast to Coast.

Just as McGill has branched out to meet the ever-growing needs, so with this establishment, until today we operate our own Silver Fox Ranches and our representatives collect the choicest pelts direct from the trappers of the Northland, and our designers regularly visit Paris that our styles may be unsurpassed.

To this Establishment you are especially invited: You will find our display unique, interesting and complete.

Your visit will be appreciated independent of any intention or desire to purchase.

What could be more appropriate as her Centennial Souvenir than a smart neckpiece of truly Canadian Fur. We have an unparalleled selection, all most moderately priced.

McGill's Greatest Benefactor

Practically every department of the University is indebted to Sir William Macdonald for assistance.

He provided the funds for the Engineering and Physics Building, the Chemistry and Mining Building; and laid the foundation for the Faculty of Applied Science.

He gave over $6,000,000 for buildings, equipment and endowment for Macdonald College; while his total benefactions amounted to $12,509,155.

McGill, Montreal and Canada owe a debt to Sir William Macdonald which can never be paid; but those who appreciate the work which McGill has done and is doing, will always hold him in grateful and affectionate memory.

In business, as in philanthropy, gratitude is the reward of endeavor.

Millions of men in every walk of life hold in grateful remembrance Lewis Edson Waterman, the inventor of Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen.

He saw the need of his times and did his best to fill that need. Now—years after his death—his pen goes on, simply because he made a better fountain pen than anyone else has ever been able to make.

That is what Education, as represented by McGill, aims to do—to enable a man to create or perform or accomplish something better than has ever been done before.

McGILL WON ENG. RUGGER GAME TODAY

Team from H.M.S. Wistaria,
British Sloop Now in Port

21 to 0.

Sailors Handicapped by Lack of Practice

Showing considerably improved form over that displayed last Saturday against the Montreal English, the McGill English Rugby team yesterday defeated a team from H.M.S. Wistaria, a sloop of the British North Atlantic Squadron, at present in harbor here.

The score, which was 21 to nothing for McGill, is really a fair indication of the play, as the sailors were outclassed from the start. In justice to them it must be stated, however, that they were handicapped by lack of practice, and by the fact that several of their men apparently had very little, if any, knowledge of the game. Their forwards showed well, and Lieuts. Arliss and Jenks, as halves, worked very hard, but their three-quarters showed no skill whatever, with the result that they failed to score.

On the other hand, for McGill the three-quarters played a really fine game. They tackled well and showed no selfishness in passing, although practice at this department of the game would still be useful. The forwards heeled very much better than last Saturday, but are still inclined to pick the ball up out of the scrum, being penalized several times for so doing.

McGill kicked off, and quickly rushed the play down to the sailor's end. A fine run from a line-out by the three-quarters resulted in Manson crossing the line, but Referee Gunn called it back for a forward pass. McGill was not to be denied, however, and a few moments later Manson shot across after getting the ball from a scrum. Budden failed to convert from a difficult angle. Score: McGill, 3; Wistaria, 0.

On resumption of play, the ball remained at mid-field for several minutes. Wistaria was awarded a free kick, and Arliss kicked to touch near McGill's end. Wistaria pressed hard for a few moments, but a free kick awarded to McGill took them their chance. This was the only time throughout the game that the sailors were in any danger of scoring. A fine three-quarter run netting fifty yards gain to McGill, brought the play into Wistaria's territory again, and a minute later Beardsley faked a pass to Manson and shot across for McGill's second try. Budden again failed to convert.

Play after this was very loose for several minutes, both sides fumbling the ball, and passing wildly. Then the McGill three-quarters got away again for a forty-yard run, and it was not long before they again crossed the sailor's line, making it nine to nothing for McGill, Marpole doing the trick. The try at goal again failed, as did every attempt throughout the game.

Shortly after resumption of play Helmcken injured his leg and was forced to retire, Kemp dropping back to take his place. Just before half-time another fine effort by the three-quarters resulted in another try. Score at half-time: McGill, 12; Wistaria, 0.

Arliss kicked off to Budden, who returned to Wistaria's 45 yard line. The ball stayed at mid-field for several minutes, both sides losing opportunities to get away. Bush, playing full-back for the sailors, was hurt, and had to be carried from the field. Shortly after Marpole scored after Bradley had run forty yards to the sailors' five-yard line. McGill was all over the Wistaria at this point, they showing great weakness in tackling. Another sixty-yard run brought McGill's score up to 18, and just before time was called they added another, making the full time score: McGill, 21; Wistaria, 0.

For McGill Marpole and Manson at three-quarters were the stars, and among the forwards Budden, Roome and Patterson worked hard. Kemp played a very heady game at full back, where he played after Helmcken. Mr. Gunn refereed in a very efficient manner.

The teams:
McGill.
Back—Helmcken.
Three-quarters—Manson, Bradley, Day, Marpole.
Halves—MacIntosh and Cooper.
Forwards—Budden, Roome, Patterson, Branch, Brown, Kemp, McLean and Rankin.
H.M.S. Wistaria.
Back—Buck.
Three-quarters—Cruikshanks, Cooley, Fakely, Cockings.
Halves—Arliss and Jenks.
Forwards—Mitchell, Patterson, Leman, Phelps, Holden, Jordan, Clarkson and Brown.

This morning on the Old Campus at 10.30 a.m., a possible "First" team will meet another possible "First" team in a practice match. Coach Matthews will be on hand and a good turnout is expected.
From to-day's game a team will be selected to play the Montreal

GRADS PLAN ENDOWMENT

Such was our Principal's welcome, and the least that can be said of it, is that it was most fitting and expressive of McGill's feeling towards her Alumni and alumnae at this momentous time. Sir Arthur then went on to say that he would not try to outline McGill's history, "for," he said, "it has been well told by Professor MacMillan in his book, which I confidently urge you to take home with you." He paid tribute to all the great names of McGill, first of all the immortal James himself, then the famous Principals of the University—Sir William Peterson. He mentioned also the debt that we owed to our benefactors, Lord Strathcona, the Molsons, the Redpaths, that grand old man, Sir William Macdonald, and, last, but not least, he thanked the Graduates themselves for what they had done, by their part in the campaign towards the making of a better McGill.

Sir Arthur then explained how the money received from the Endowment Campaign was being, and is going to be, expended. For the increase of salaries which was necessary and for extension of facilities two and a half million were set aside. The extension to the library will cost $150,000, and is expected to provide accommodation for the next ten years. The extension to the "Old Med." is expected to cost about $600,000. An item that will bring joy to many is that the Arts Building will be renovated next year, at an expected cost of four to five hundred thousand dollars. It is proposed also to build a new gymnasium, and it will have provision for about 150 rooms. A new Science building is also on the carpet. Thus it will be seen that our Alma Mater will set out on the next century of her existence well equipped to take her place as a leader in the world of education.

Dr. C. W. Colby, Arts '87, and late Professor of History at McGill, then took the floor, and delivered a most inspiring, hopeful and at the same time interesting address. The title of it was "The Aims of the Graduates Society." The main object, said Dr. Colby, "is to render permanent, practical and effective, the sentiment that animates all of us who have gathered for this great reunion." It also seeks, he said, to be helpful to the Graduates at large, and to act as a clearing house for information, through the McGill News. It endeavours also to "foster and cement the connection which should exist between the Graduates and the Board of Governors," and to encourage the support of McGill in every possible way.

Mr. H. Y. Russell, Sci. '91, then outlined the proposed plan of a Graduates Endowment Fund. He spoke at length of the reasons for such a fund, one of which being that Grads. instead of contributing large amounts at times such as last November, would be able to donate smaller amounts at more frequent intervals, and when they were most able to. He also, outlined the management of it, which was passed unanimously by the assembly.

After Mr. Russell, short addresses were given by Graduates not resident in Montreal. Dr. Campbell Howard, Arts '97, now of the University of Iowa, and Mr. A. C. Rutherford, Arts '81, of Edmonton, both gave most interesting talks. Murray Brooks, Arts '08, of Colombo, Ceylon, told about the work of McGill in Ceylon, which deeply engrossed the attention of all present.

After some announcements about the class dinners last night, by Dr. Chas. Martin, Arts '88, Med. '92, the assembly sang "God Save the King," and broke up.

And thus was held the most momentous meeting that has been or will be held for a great many years. And McGill is proud of her Alumni and Alumnae who display such a spirit of faith in her as was displayed yesterday morning at the Capitol.

After the close of the meeting all those present assembled on the Campus where the official photograph of the Graduates at the Re-union was taken.

JUNIOR SQUAD TO PLAY LOYOLA

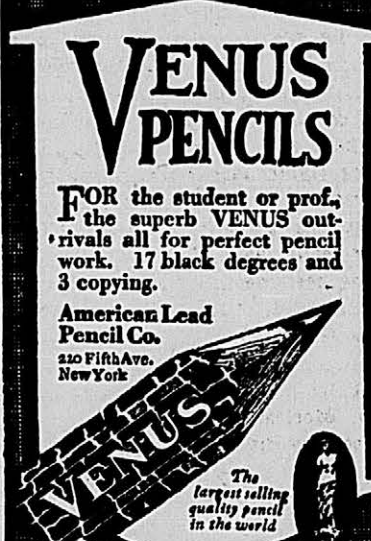

3.30 P.M. This Afternoon—

Victory Would Mean Section Championship

The Junior Team is scheduled to meet Loyola this afternoon at 3.30, at the Loyola grounds. Judging from the past two games in which they came out victorious, there should be no doubt as to the results of to-day's game. One Wednesday this team defeated Macdonald College to the time of 15-0. While last week they won from Loyola, at the Stadium to the score of 16-5. If they should come out victorious with Loyola this afternoon, they will have won the championship of their section. H. F. Robinson, managing the team, expressed the hope of seeing a goodly number out at Loyola this afternoon, to cheer their team to victory.

A hotel man was invited to dine at one of the fraternity houses. "I hope," said one of the hosts, "that you will make yourself feel at home here."

"It seems that I should," replied the landlord, as he looked over the table. "I see plenty of my silverware."—Stanford Chaparral.

FIRST MEETING OF MACCABEANS

Sunday, Oct. 16th at 2.30.

The opening meeting of the Maccabean Circle will take place on Sunday, Oct. 16, at 2.30 o'clock, in the Army and Navy Veterans Hall, 602 St. Catherine West.

As the representative organization of the Jewish student body at McGill since 1905, the Circle has enjoyed a highly successful career; and with the programme of every meeting already arranged, this year bids fair to outshine all former ones in its history. Otto Klineberg M.A., Med. '24 holds the presidency for this year, and promises an interesting programme for all coming meetings.

With several hundred past members of the Circle registered at the Centennial Headquarters, it is hoped that as many of them as possible may be present at the opening meeting. Men who knew the Maccabean Circle in its infancy, with a membership of fifteen or twenty, will see what strides it has made both in point of membership and realization of purpose.

At the opening meeting on Sunday, Jacob Viner, B. A., of the staff of Chicago University and at present temporarily filling Dr. Leacock's place in the Economics department here, will address the Circle on "Labour and the Jew". Mr. Viner is a past president of the Maccabean Circle and was a member of the class of Arts '14.

The meeting at the Army and Navy Veterans Hall on Sunday is open to all past members, and members, and everyone interested in the Society. The Intercollegiate Memorial Society of America to which the Maccabean Circle is affiliated is distinctly non-sectarian, and intended to further the study of Jewish literature and Jewish topics, at the colleges of the United States and Canada.

SERENADING BROUGHT STRICTLY UP TO DATE

In days of old a fair lady was often awakened at midnight by the tinkle of a guitar and a masculine voice singing bits of classic melody. Opening the casement the moonlight disclosed a tall youth with long curls, clad in velvet doublet, long hose and buckled slippers. Hid behind the climbing roses she would listen enraptured to the lovesome tune, and when it was finished, would pluck a rose and, pressing it to her lips, cast it with a sigh to her lover below.

But now all is changed and modern jazz combined with a drifting away from the "one" fair lady stuff to a general falling for everything feminine has left this quaint but simple method of sparkling far behind.

Today a similar performance is not even thought of as courting; sometimes a wild night out; other times it is merely an exhibit of masculine abilities to sing and play.

Nowadays they come to a group house where there are a great many fair ladies. It is not the mere picking of notes on a guitar that arouses the fair ones from their slumbers, but a real jazz orchestra, piano, saxophone, traps and all.

USHERS FOR FOOTBALL GAME.

Ushers for the Varsity game will meet at 1.30 p.m. on Saturday at the West gate, University Street. Any man who is not present at this hour may lose his place.

Officials, and those entered for today's track meet will enter the grounds by the Pine Avenue gate.

MACCABEANS HOLD OPENING

The opening meeting of the Maccabean Circle will be held at the Army and Navy Veterans Hall, 602 St. Catherine St. West, at 2.30 p.m., Sunday, October 16th. Jacob Viner, B.A., will lecture on "Labour and the Jew".

No rose marks the end of the concert, with milady's fond esteem, but loud claps and calls for "More" distinctly unfeminine hurry the 1921 serenades to the next group house.

Thus, the "old order changed to the new", and modern jazz reigns supreme.

D. WALTER MUNN APPOINTED PROF.

Mr. D. Walter Munn has just gone to Halifax to take up his new duties as Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the Technical college. He was born in Quebec and received his early education in the schools of that old "Fortress City." He graduated from the Applied Science Faculty at McGill with the degree of Bachelor of Science and later secured his Master of Science here. Later he pursued a post-graduate course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston and secured another M. Sc. from this famous college.

He has had a long and varied experience in teaching in the public schools and in college work. He acted as a demonstrator at McGill, as Assistant Professor of Engineering in Queen's University, as Assistant Professor of Engineering in McGill University College in Vancouver for five years, and as Professor of Engineering in the Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont.

His industrial experience has also been long and varied. He has acted as student apprentice with the Allis-Chalmers-Bullock Co., and draftsman with John McDonald, Caledonia Iron works and as designer with the Algoma Steel Corporation. His positions of chief responsibility were as Assistant Engineer

James and Andrew McGill & Co. Advertise Their Wares in 1806

Yesterday afternoon an old grad. walked into the "Daily" office and up to the Editor's desk. To all intents and purposes there is nothing strange in having a visitor at the office, but this gentleman proved a find.

His silvery white beard suggested that might perhaps be a grandfather while the athletic steps in his walk proved that he was an athlete in his day. In short, in his college days, he must have chosen the happy medium, so seldom found by most of us.

As he sat chatting with the editor, one could discern, in the traces of his face, and in the light in his eyes that he was talking of things very dear to him—his recollections of undergraduates days. He very kindly suggested that while the University excitement was on, and the grand army of graduates from the four quarters of the globe are marching on to this city. He would send, an item from his collection on good old McGill every day. And this is what he handed the Editor:

"The subscribers have on hand a quantity of Carrot Tobacco manufactured in London, which they will sell cheap for cash or on short credit.—James & Andrew McGill Co., Montreal. 27th Sept. 1806.

with the Steel Company of Canada and Chief Engineer for the Armstrong-Wentworth Company of Canada in Montreal during the period of feverish production of munitions during the war.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH

Old McGill

SHE'S ALL RIGHT, OH! YES! YOU BET!!

The hand and heart of Montreal go out to welcome "home" the boys of old McGill, and nowhere will the greeting carry more zest or sincerity than here for this

has grown up with

CANADA'S NATIONAL UNIVERSITY.
When your Alma Mater was but "a girl in her teens," the House of HOLT, RENFREW & COMPANY was established. Like the University, it has grown steadily in importance and accomplishments, and now it is the foremost of the Land, truly a National Institution, with branches in the four metropolises of Canada and doing business from Coast to Coast.

Just as McGill has branched out to meet the ever-growing needs, so with this establishment, until today we operate our own Silver Fox Ranches and our representatives collect the choicest pelts direct from the trappers of the Northland, and our designers regularly visit Paris that our styles may be unsurpassed.

To this Establishment you are especially invited. You will find our display unique, interesting and complete.

Your visit will be appreciated independent of any intention or desire to purchase.

What could be more appropriate for her Centennial Souvenir than a smart neckpiece of truly Canadian Fur. We have an unparalleled selection, all most moderately priced.

MCGILL'S GREATEST BENEFACTOR

Practically every department of the University is indebted to Sir William Macdonald for assistance.

He provided the funds for the Engineering and Physics Building, the Chemistry and Mining Building; and laid the foundation for the Faculty of Applied Science.

He gave over $6,000,000 for buildings, equipment and endowment for Macdonald College; while his total benefactions amounted to $12,509,155.

McGill, Montreal and Canada owe a debt to Sir William Macdonald which can never be paid; but those who appreciate the work which McGill has done and is doing, will always hold him in grateful and affectionate memory.

In business, as in philanthropy, gratitude is the reward of endeavor.

Millions of men in every walk of life hold in grateful remembrance Lewis Edson Waterman, the inventor of Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen.

He saw the need of his times and did his best to fill that need. Now—years after his death—his pen goes on, simply because he made a better fountain pen than anyone else has ever been able to make.

That is what Education, as represented by McGill, aims to do—to enable a man to create or perform or accomplish something better than has ever been done before.

MCGILL WON ENG. RUGGER GAME TODAY

Team from H.M.S. Wistaria,
British Sloop Now in Port

21 to 0.

Sailors Handicapped by Lack of Practice

Showing considerably improved form over that displayed last Saturday against the Montreal English, the McGill English Rugby team yesterday defeated a team from H.M.S. Wistaria, a sloop of the British North Atlantic Squadron, at present in harbor here.

The score, which was 21 to nothing for McGill, is really a fair indication of the play, as the sailors were outclassed from the start. In justice to them it must be stated, however, that they were handicapped by lack of practice, and by the fact that several of their men apparently had very little, if any, knowledge of the game. Their forwards shoved well, and Lieuts. Arliss and Jenks, as halves, worked very hard, but their three-quarters showed no skill whatever, with the result that they failed to score.

On the other hand, for McGill the three-quarters played a really fine game. They tackled well and showed no selfishness in passing, although practice at this department of the game would still be useful. The forwards heeled very much better than last Saturday, but are still inclined to pick the ball up out of the scrum, being penalized several times for so doing.

McGill kicked off, and quickly rushed the play down to the sailor's end. A fine run from a line-out by the three-quarters resulted in Manson crossing the line, but Referee Gunn called it back for a forward pass. McGill was not to be denied, however, and a few moments later Manson shot across after getting the ball from a scrum. Budden failed to convert from a difficult angle. Score: McGill, 3; Wistaria, 0.

On resumption of play, the ball remained at mid-field for several minutes. Wistaria was awarded a free kick, and Arliss kicked to touch near McGill's end. Wistaria pressed hard for a few moments, but a free kick awarded to McGill lost them their chance. This was the only time throughout the game that the sailors were in any danger of scoring. A fine three-quarter run netting fifty yards gain to McGill, brought the play into Wistaria's territory again, and a minute later Beardsley faked a pass to Manson and shot across for McGill's second try. Budden again failed to convert.

Play after this was very loose for several minutes, both sides fumbling the ball, and passing wildly. Then the McGill three-quarters got away again for a forty-yard run, and it was not long before they again crossed the sailor's line, making it nine to nothing for McGill, Marpole doing the trick. The try at goal again failed, as did every attempt throughout the game.

Shortly after resumption of play Helmcken injured his leg and was forced to retire, Kemp dropping back to take his place. Just before half-time another fine effort by the three-quarters resulted in another try. Score at half-time: McGill, 12; Wistaria, 0.

Arliss kicked off to Budden, who returned to Wistaria's 45 yard line. The ball stayed at mid-field for several minutes, both sides losing opportunities to get away. Bush, playing full-back for the sailors, was hurt, and had to be carried from the field. Shortly after Marpole scored after Bradley had run forty yards to the sailors' five-yard line. McGill was all over the Wistaria at this point, they showing great weakness in tackling. Another sixty-yard run brought McGill's score up to 18, and just before time was called they added another, making the full time score: McGill, 21; Wistaria, 0.

For McGill Marpole and Manson at three-quarters were the stars, and among the forwards Budden, Roome and Patterson worked hard. Kemp played a very heady game at full back, where he played after Helmcken. Mr. Gunn refereed in a very efficient manner.

The teams:
McGill.
Back—Helmcken.
Three-quarters—Manson, Bradley, Day, Marpole.
Halves—MacIntosh and Cooper.
Forwards—Budden, Roome, Patterson, Branch, Brown, Kemp, McLean and Rankin.
H.M.S. Wistaria.
Back—Buck.
Three-quarters—Cruikshanks, Cooley, Fakely, Cockings.
Halves—Arliss and Jenks.
Forwards—Mitchell, Patterson, Leman, Phelps, Holden, Jordan, Clarkson and Brown.

This morning on the Old Campus at 10.30 a.m., a possible "First" team will meet another possible "First" team in a practice match. Coach Matthews will be on hand and a good turnout is expected.
From to-day's game a team will be selected to play the Montreal

Such was our Principal's welcome, and the least that can be said of it, is that it was most fitting and expressive of McGill's feeling towards her Alumni and alumnae at this momentous time. Sir Arthur then went on to say that he would not try to outline McGill's history, "for," he said, "it has been well told by Professor MacMillan in his book, which I confidently urge you to take home with you." He paid tribute to all the great names of McGill, first of all the immortal James himself, then the famous Principals of the University—Sir William Peterson. He mentioned also the debt that we owed to our benefactors, Lord Strathcona, the Molsons, the Redpaths, that grand old man, Sir William Macdonald, and, last, but not least, he thanked the Graduates themselves for what they had done, by their part in the campaign towards the making of a better McGill.

Sir Arthur then explained how the money received from the Endowment Campaign was being, and is going to be, expended. For the increase of salaries which was necessary and for extension of facilities two and a half million were set aside. The extension to the library will cost $150,000, and is expected to provide accommodation for the next ten years. The extension to the "Old Med." is expected to cost about $600,000. An item that will bring joy to many is that the Arts Building will be renovated next year, at an expected cost of four to five hundred thousand dollars. It is proposed also to build a new gymnasium, and it will have provision for about 150 rooms. A new Science building is also on the carpet. Thus it will be seen that our Alma Mater will set out on the next century of her existence well equipped to take her place as a leader in the world of education.

Dr. C. W. Colby, Arts '87, and late Professor of History at McGill, then took the floor, and delivered a most inspiring, hopeful and at the same time interesting address. The title of it was "The Aims of the Graduates Society." The main object, said Dr. Colby, "is to render permanent, practical and effective, the sentiment that animates all of us who have gathered for this great reunion." It also seeks, he said, to be helpful to the Graduates at large, and to act as a clearing house for information, through the McGill News. It endeavours also to "foster and cement the connection which should exist between the Graduates and the Board of Governors," and to encourage the support of McGill in every possible way.

Mr. H. Y. Russell, Sci. '91, then outlined the proposed plan of a Graduates Endowment Fund. He spoke at length of the reasons for such a fund, one of which being that Grads. instead of contributing large amounts at times such as last November, would be able to donate smaller amounts at more frequent intervals, and when they were most able to. He also outlined the management of it, which was passed unanimously by the assembly.

After Mr. Russell, short addresses were given by Graduates not resident in Montreal. Dr. Campbell Howard, Arts '97, now of the University of Iowa, and Mr. A. C. Rutherford, Arts '81, of Edmonton, both gave most interesting talks. Murray Brooks, Arts '08, of Colombo, Ceylon, told about the work of McGill in Ceylon, which deeply engrossed the attention of all present.

After some announcements about the class dinners last night, by Dr. Chas. Martin, Arts '88, Med. '92, the assembly sang "God Save the King," and broke up.

And thus was held the most momentous meeting that has been or will be held for a great many years. And McGill is proud of her Alumni and Alumnae who display such a spirit of faith in her as was displayed yesterday morning at the Capitol.

After the close of the meeting all those present assembled on the Campus where the official photograph of the Graduates at the Reunion was taken.

JUNIOR SQUAD TO PLAY LOYOLA

3.30 P.M. This Afternoon—

Victory Would Mean Section Championship

The Junior Team is scheduled to meet Loyola this afternoon at 3.30, at the Loyola grounds. Judging from the past two games in which they came out victorious, there should be no doubt as to the results of to-day's game. One Wednesday this team defeated Macdonald College to the time of 15-0. While last week they won from Loyola, at the Stadium to the score of 16-5. If they should come out victorious with Loyola this afternoon, they will have won the championship of their section. H. F. Robinson, managing the team, expressed the hope of seeing a goodly number out at Loyola this afternoon, to cheer this team to victory.

A hotel man was invited to dine at one of the fraternity houses.

"I hope," said one of the hosts, "that you will make yourself feel at home here."

"It seems that I should," replied the landlord, as he looked over the table. "I see plenty of my silverware."—Stanford Chaparral.

DONALDAS OF ALL YEARS AT R.V.C. DINNER

250 Alumnae Enjoy Banquet Last Night
SPLENDID MUSIC
Many Distinguished Guests Present

About two hundred and fifty Donaldas assembled to renew acquaintances and revive long forgotten happy incidents of college days at the very delightful dinner given by the Alumnae Society last night in the Roal Victoria College. There were graduates from the class of '88 and every single year from this class to the class of 1921 was represented. Many of those present were real pioneers, having gone thro' college in the days when the Donaldas were few in quantity tho' not in quality.

The tables were arranged across the head of the dancing room in one long main table at which sat the president, officers, and guests of honour of the Alumnae Society; at right angles from this were five tables extending to length of the dining hall. The tables were simple and tastefully decorated with red and white carnations and ribbons, the McGill colours scheme was also carried out even the favours and the punch!

The dinner was followed by a musical programme and toasts, both furnished by various graduates.

Mrs. Fry, Arts '90 President of the Alumnae Society welcomed the out-of-town members in a few fittingly chosen words, her address was followed by the singing of "O Canada."

Mrs. Vaughan, Arts '95 was received with great enthusiasm and a long and hearty clap when she rose to propose the toast to McGill; as she pictured the spirit of her Alma Mater coming to her and unfolding to her the future of the college. Many of those present felt again the inspiring influence of their well-beloved and respected teacher and friend.

After the singing of "Hail, Alma Mater" and "Come, fill your glasses up," Miss Mabel King, Arts '07 Vice-president of the Society, replied to the toast in her typically humorous and pleasing manner, causing many a hearty laugh over amusing incidents long forgotten.

Miss Haribart, Warden of the Royal Victoria College, rose and visible signs of great welcome to propose the toast to her sister Universities. Dr. Benson, the representative from Toronto University, and Miss Rayside, the Queen's representative replied in turn to the toast. Both speakers conveyed the congratulations from their Universities to McGill upon the celebration of her hundredth anniversary, and the good wishes that she may continue to celebrate many more hundreds of anniversaries.

These greetings from Sister Universities were fittingly followed by the toast to "the Younger Generation" into whose hands the Graduates trust the future name and fame of the college. Mrs. Hunter class '88, of the very first year which could toast women undergraduates, proposed the toast, in a humorous and kindly way she gave sound and helpful advice to the younger members, cheering them to live up to the wonderful opportunities open to women now which at the time of Miss Jaine Spier of Arts '21, and last year president of the R. V. C. Undergraduate Society, replied to the toast in a few charming words she assured the older heads that we will do our utmost best to maintain uplifted the high standards which they have set.

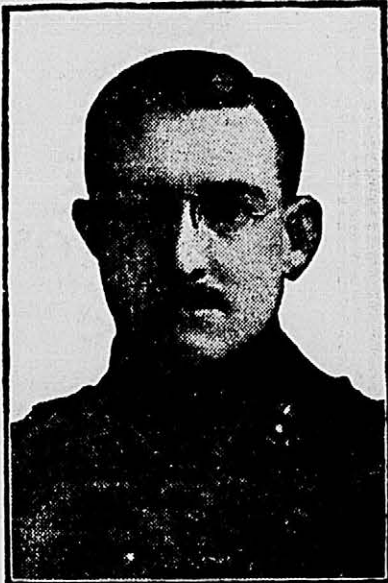

The items of a very charming musical programme were furnished by the following:

Piano Solo —Miss Armstrong '16.
Vocal Solo —Mrs. Phelan.
Vocal Solo —(Blanche Gilmour '06.)
Miss Helen Kydd '07, Mrs. Stalker.
Piano Solo —(Miss Y. McSweeney).

The dinner was considered by all to have been a very great success. When plans were first laid it was thought there would only be about a hundred graduates. But last night's banquet more than doubled this estimate. The success of the dinner was due in a large measure to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Fry and Mrs. C. J. MacMillan, who worked very hard over the necessary arrangements.

The evening, one which will not lightly be forgotten by any of the two hundred and fifty R. V. C. graduates present, was finished by "God Save the King" and the good old McGill yell.

The run was in her stocking;
When she climbed into her car,
Some prim dame said, "How shocking!"

McGILL MAN WORKS HARD IN CEYLON

Murray Brooks Writes on Work of Y.M.C.A.

PROSPECTS GOOD

The Introduction of Physical Training Into Schools Under Way

In a most interesting letter to the Editor of the "McGill News," Mr. Murray G. Brooks, who was sent to Ceylon in 1910 as official representative of the McGill Y.M.C.A., tells of the good work done by the Association in that far-distant land.

Ceylon, though comparatively small in size, occupies a very important position on the direct trade route of the Indian Ocean, a half-way house, as it were, which leaves its stamp on all the countries of Southern Asia. Whether this influence on its neighbors is to be for good or for evil depends very largely on its ideals and moral status.

The object of Mr. Brooks and his co-workers is not to introduce a superficial Christianity among the natives, but to dig down to the very soul of the people and instill into their very fibre high conception of right and wrong, so that whatever stand they take, there will be reflected the unswerving righteousness which was the foundation of early Christianity. Without this perhaps Utopian ideal, nothing really lasting can be created.

As the best means of attaining this end, the Y.M.C.A. are bringing Christianity before the people of Ceylon.

The four great religions, Buddhist, Hindoo, Moslem and Christian, are about equally divided, and the fate of Ceylon depends upon which of these obtains the greatest hold upon the people.

Out of a population about as large as that of Australia, there are 8,000 Europeans, but, though few in number, they exert a tremendous influence upon the natives, controlling, as they do, most of the industry, such as the planting of tea and rubber. From this class, sadly deficient as they are in Christian ideals, the natives take their standards of living.

It is, therefore, the task of Y. M. C. A. in Ceylon to train the people, native and European, in those virtues which are the peculiar pride of Canadians. In the words of Mr. Brooks, himself an old McGill man, "The years that we have spent out here have been devoted to an attempt to impart something of the fine spirit of our Alma Mater, and some of the ideals which are found there, to that strange people whose background is so totally different from ours."

Carrying out the all-round manhood program of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Brooks has devoted himself not only to their spiritual welfare, but also to training them in the proper care of the body. The Y.M.C.A. was instrumental in introducing physical training into the schools, and later, public supervised playgrounds, where boys from the gutters can be gradually taught the value of true sportsmanship.

There are fifteen branches of the Y.M.C.A. in Ceylon, of which four are in Colombo, the capital. In some cases the buildings are rented, and of course, none of them can compare with the wonderfully equipped "Y's" that we see in any Canadian city. However, the same spirit of brotherhood and unselfish service is here the guiding force.

During the war, an Army Hut was built to accommodate the thousands of Anzacs on their way to the scene of action. The Y.M.C.A., though still struggling, has become firmly entrenched in Ceylon, and Mr. Brooks sends a hopeful note for the future.

"The people rejoice in the light of the moon,
But they gaze eagerly for the rising of the sun."

EDUCATIONAL FILMS OF GREAT INTEREST

Any who were present at the showing of the Educational and Scientific films at the Engineering Building yesterday enjoyed a rare treat in the way of motion pictures. Undoubtedly this is a very pleasant and effective way to acquire useful information in the shortest possible time, and with the minimum of mental effort.

The first picture yesterday portrayed the methods used in irrigating the prairie land of Western Canada, by which "two blades of grass are made to grow where but one grew before." The course of the water was traced from the beautiful cascades of the Rockies, down through the main canals and into the network of smaller ditches, which distribute it over thousands of acres of farm land, making fruitful out of the dry prairie barrens, and furnishing light and power to cities like Calgary.

The next picture, "A Bird City," showed the life in an aviary in Western Canada. Pelicans and cormorants nestled with herons and wrens.

Money-making in its literal sense, was the subject of a very interesting film showing how coins are manufactured in the Royal Mint, at Ottawa. The whole process was followed through from the raw bullion to the finished currency of the realm.

The programme closed with two portrayals of animal life in Canada, one dealing with New Brunswick moose and deer, and the other showing an Ontario garden where the birds, through kind treatment and a little attention, remain all the year round and become tamed like domestic pets.

This morning at 10.30 there will be a complete change of programme at the Engineering Building, and all are urged to attend, as the films are of first class quality.

GRADS. HOLD FINE DINNER AT THE RITZ

McGill Moving Pictures Were Shown

ROOM CROWDED

Much of the Success Due to Dr. Martin

About seven o'clock members of the classes of 1884 to 1900 began flocking into the lobby at the Ritz. The members of the years 1884 to 1888 were accommodated in the ballroom and the rest in the grill. Small red placards are put on the tables with the faculty and year written on them and soon everybody managed to find a place near the respective members of their class, although the large room was taxed to capacity.

By eight the dinner had started and even the most enthusiastic grads had time to put other things aside and do justice to the menu set before them. There were no graduates on a diet last night, and the meal itself was thoroughly enjoyed by all. During the dinner different class yells were given by members of the various years.

Reunion dinners are certainly a great affair. Men from all corners of the globe were gathered at this one, men in middle age who had come thousands of miles to see once more their Alma Mater, and to shake hands and chat with old classmates whom, perhaps they had not seen since leaving college twenty years ago or more. "Do you remember" was the favorite expression of the evening and over their coffee and wine the Old Boys of McGill, in groups of twos and threes, reminisced of times gone by, of old tricks played on former professors. Menus were also passed around to be autographed by the men of the Old Class.

Letters from those who were unable to be present were also sent around and read by those who were fortunate enough to be at the dinner. If a man could not shake the hand and see the face of his old friend, a letter from him was the best alternative.

Finally when the coffee was finished, and the cigars were smoked a movie was given showing scenes of the University as it is now, as it was, and as we all hope it will be sometime. The pictures were somewhat the same as shown last year to boost the campaign. A series of cartoons entitled "Who's Who At McGill" were next flashed on the screen. These were clever sketches of well known members of the university staff, in characteristic poses. Chub Lebaron's orchestra provided excellent music of the popular sort during the time the movies were being shown.

REGISTRATION FOR ALUMNI CONTINUES

Staff Runs at High Tension All Day

Yesterday was another big day for the registration committee at Strathcona Hall. At nine o'clock sharp men were ready to register. The staff started off on the day's work, and were ready to register. The staff tire day.

The majority of the work consisted of registration, but numerous questions as to where this man was staying, or how many men from '09 had returned, were answered.

The demand for tickets to the clinics and for the industrial trips was also large. Many of the out-of-town visitors expressed interest in visiting the breweries, so that soon after ten all the tickets for this trip were gone. All through the day the heads of the various committees were kept busy. In fact, the men in actual charge did not stop for lunch or dinner, but kept on the job answering the many enquiries.

The automobile committee were only on duty in the morning. They were able to answer nearly all the demands for cars. In the afternoon, owing to the fine weather, it was decided to give the men a much needed rest. For this reason the afternoon demands were not answered. Nevertheless four men kept going, and helped to carry the work on. To-day it is hoped that the men will be out again to help. Many men were taken care of by the staff on rooms. These men were able to place graduates in good rooms after all hotel accommodations had been taken up.

The information booths at the hall and hotels were busy throughout the day answering questions. The service men were also at work throughout the day. As ticket takers at the Capitol they handled a rush crowd in remarkable quick time. The staff will be on duty at nine again to-morrow, and will be there to do their best to help the alumni have a real re-union at McGill.

GRATIFYING MEETING OF SCIENCE '14

Class Reunion a Decided Success

WELL ATTENDED

Many Original Members Entertained Last Evening

Despite what other classes may think about the success of their own particular affairs which took place last evening, the members of Science '14 are convinced that the gathering held by them at the Place Viger far eclipsed these others in point of goodfellowship and amusement—and it is even attested by those soberly looking on that it would be possible to equal, but practically impossible, to outdo the Science men of the year of 1914.

The fare provided was of a quality in project keeping with the spirit of its meeting, and its entertainment in its turn prove a worthy counterpart to the edible portion of the programme. Mr. Gus. Hill and his accompaniment kept the listeners in a constant good humoured form of mind by their rendering of several popular songs, which were repeatedly encored. Mr. Cowan who succeeded this number on the list, proud equally successful in his efforts and please the audience, by his singing and his frequent recalls cycled the leanings of his hearers.

Mr. Calder, the oldest citizen of Bytown (now known as Ottawa), having reached there for the first time in 1842, addressed the graduates of '14. He emphasized its responsibility which ought to be felt by those of the younger generation, and also dwelt upon the opportunities, almost amounting to privileges, which the younger men had of continuing the work started by their predecessors.

Following another song by Mr. Cowan M. Jimmy Rice, well known in Montreal for his versatility in entertainment, captivated its diners by his rendition of well known melodies, and by his able enunciation of some very witty jokes. "Alouille" was, of course, taken up by all in the room, as the "Hambur show" was sung just as heartily.

Miss Hill, of the Venetian, left little to be desired, and scoud a decided hit with the scientists, Miss Hill and Mr. Cowan were an undoubted attraction in their concerted singing of a love song. Mr. Martin gave a very praiseworthy exhibition of dancing and was generously applauded for his endeavours.

"Harry", of fame about the Science building, lent color to the evening by his presence. After a most enjoyable and gratifying gathering, the meeting dispersed to proceed to the smoker at the Windsor.

FLAG STAFF TO BE DEDICATED

Lord Byng of Vimy Will Dedicate New Memorial Flag Pole at Stadium

One of the many important events to take place to-day in conjunction with the Annual Sports Day is the dedication by the Governor-General, Lord Byng of Vimy, of the memorial flag-pole at the south-west corner of the stadium. This flag-pole has been erected in memory of the men from the 10th Canadian Siege Battery, who fell in the great war. This unit was organized about April, 1917, and was composed almost entirely of McGill men. It proceeded to France under the command of Major Sir Stopford Brunton, and went through the battles of Amiens, Arras, Cambrai and Mons. Sixteen men fell while doing their duty, and it is in memory of these men that the flag-pole and its handsome base are being erected.

Permission was gladly granted by the University to friends and relatives of the men who fell, and the members of the battery to erect this memorial. The base was designed by a member of the battery, and consists of two octagonal granite blocks. On the sides of these blocks are engraved the names of the sixteen men. The base is surmounted by a bronze casting, on which is engraved the name of the unit, and a suitable epitaph. On top of this again is mounted the handsome flag pole.

The ceremony of dedication will be performed by the Governor-General of Canada, Lord Byng of Vimy, at two o'clock.

DR. "BILLY" ELLIS REMINISCENCES

Grad. of Med. '87 Captain of McGill Soccer Team in '85 and '86.

While on a tour round the campus an old grad of '87 came into the Daily Office to make the acquaintance of the Editorial Sanctum of the paper for which he had subscribed en route. He hails from White Lake, Wisconsin, and was one of the most prominent Meds of his year.

The grads of that time will remember Ellis of '87, more familiarly known as "Billy", who was captain of the College Association Football team in '85 and '86. "Billy" Ellis was also a member of the Montreal team and played in goals for them.

Dr. Ellis was originally of Galt Ont., where all the Scotch settlers were keen on "Soccer." This explained, he said, his early leanings toward the game. Soccer was the College game then, as Rugby is to-day and Dr. Ellis had several Clippings of exciting battles of those days.

One particularly interesting game in which Captain Ellis figured was between Toronto and Montreal when Toronto won by a score of 1 to 0. "This was entirely a fluke" said Dr. Ellis, "for the ball bounced off one of our men into the hands of one of Toronto's men who was enabled to score a goal by surprise.

Dr. Ellis wished us all success and hoped the Daily would survive until his subscription had run out. He said if we waited long enough we could have "marble tops" like himself. "Sir, you know, he said "they don't put marble tops on cheap furniture."

GREATEST CONVOCATION EVER HELD AT MCGILL

Lord Byng Installed as Visitor—New Chancellor Spoke—
Prominent Among Recipients Were Sir Auckland Geddes,
Premier Taschereau, Dr. Colby, Dr. Angell, Dr. Hibben
—New Arts Dean Present.

The greatest convocation ever held at McGill took place yesterday afternoon. Before two o'clock St. James Methodist Church began to fill with the concourse of people who witnessed it. When the organ prelude commenced at 2:35 p.m. all the pews were occupied, with the exception of the centre aisle, which was reserved for those who were to receive honorary degrees, delegates from sister universities, graduates and members of the University staff. When the impressive ceremonies began the church was filled to overflowing, hundreds were standing and great numbers had to be turned away.

The procession assembled at the Royal Victoria College, where those taking part in the Convocation donned their academic robes, and marched in a body to St. James Church. Many people stopped at the curbsides to watch the colorful scene. Resplendent in their multi-colored gowns, the robed figures were more like a mediæval pageant of centuries ago than members of a twentieth century and rather materialistic world. The distinguished assemblage was led by His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada, and the new Visitor of McGill University was enthusiastically received when he entered the church. He took his place on the platform with Mr. E. W. Beatty, Sir Arthur Currie, the Governors, Deans of the Faculties, and distinguished recipients of honorary degrees. The Convocation, one of the most impressive events ever held in Montreal, commenced with a fitting prayer by the Rev. Dr. D. L. Ritchie, Dean of the Co-operating Theological Colleges.

The Vice-Chancellor and Principal then introduced the new Chancellor, Sir Arthur announced that at a meeting of the Governors held on October 3rd Edward Wentworth Beatty, B.A., K.C., was nominated and appointed "President of the Royal Institute for the Advancement of Learning, and Chancellor of McGill College and University." The Principal spoke in glowing terms of Mr. Beatty and welcomed his appointment. He said that there were three types of men in the world. The first was the man of theory, of vision, and of high thoughts. This man seemed to be the embodiment of all that was highest and best, but when the crisis came, he could not transform his ideals into practice. He said that college men were too frequently of this type, for which the world had no use.

The second kind of man, he said, was he who wanted quantity before quality, who cared not for the higher things of life, for sentiment or tradition. If he wanted to carry out a certain deed he would do so, no matter what were the consequences. This man's work was not lasting.

"The third type of man is he who combines theory and practice. His high motives are transformed into action. His various qualities are blended into glorious harmony. The new Chancellor is this third type of man."

Mr. Beatty said that he felt himself lacking in many of the qualities which should be possessed by the incumbent of the high office. "I still feel embarrassed by the appointment which I am afraid was prompted more in friendship than in wisdom, but as it cements and perpetuates an association with McGill, of which I am very proud, I have reluctantly and with great hesitation acceded to the wishes of the Governors. I certainly was not selected because of academic distinction, or even a profound knowledge of the classics. The dead languages are very dead to me." He declared that his position would not merely be ornamental, but he would take an active part in the University life.

"Next to freedom and justice, quoting the words of President Garfield, is education. If the people will not come to the university, the university must go to the people. McGill must come off the hill and go into the streets, into the highways and byways, into the suburbs and country towns," Mr. Beatty continued.

He said that in a century of such rapid development as Canada, the university must guard against relying too much on tradition. "She must first appearance at McGill, and it is not expected he will take over his new duties until next January.

Professor Bouge, of the Faculty of Letters, the University of Paris, read the Sorbonnes greeting. His stately figure was garbed in an orange and black satin robe, with fur trimmings. He carried a high turban hat, and appeared more like an Eastern potentate than a college professor.

His Excellency the Governor-General was the first recipient of the degree of Doctor of Laws. The Vice-Chancellor, Dean Adams, presented his Excellency the Governor-General and Visitor. Lord Byng displayed rare powers of oratory, and coined humor with words of more serious mien. He said that the honor conferred on him was one for which he could not express sufficient thanks. His Excellency declared that his classical education was no recommendation for the be prepared to open new avenues for all those desiring to obtain higher education. McGill prides herself on being essentially a national, in deed an international university. That proud position can be maintained only if McGill keeps pace with the times, maintains an elastic curriculum and faculties receptive to new conceptions of education.

Chancellor Beatty declared that James McGill, in making his endowment in 1811 resulting in the foundation of the college ten years later, had inaugurated the first university in the Dominion. Great as McGill had been in its first hundred years of existence, it was bound to be still greater in the future, if all those connected with the university did their utmost for its continued progress.

The Principal then read congratulatory messages from sister universities, British, French, Belgian, American and Canadian. Some of the university delegates presented the messages from their colleges in person to Sir Arthur. Prominent among them was Dr. Gordon Jennings Laing of the University of Chicago, who was recently appointed Dean of the Faculty of Arts. This is Dean Laing's degree. "Henry's First Latin Book was the only Latin I ever studied. An indulgent parent purchased for me 'Liddell and Scott', but I did not like the look of the book, and sold it to a huckster for twopence."

Speaking in a more serious vein, His Excellency made a plea for a deeper study of English history. He declared that an assimilation of the history of the Old Country from a psychological point of view would be a wonderful asset for the Canadian's future. Taking the one hundred and fifty years from 1650 to 1800, he mentioned great names as Dryden and Pope in letters, Newton and Bacon in science and philosophy, and the many filibustering generals and admirals, not forgetting the farseeing statesmen, who contributed to making that period one of the greatest in British history.

"They were all human," said Lord Byng, "they understood and directed men and led them from royal prerogative to the present constitutional democracy, a wonderful evolution." Following His Excellency's speech, which was loudly applauded, forty-eight men and two women had honorary degrees conferred on them. Dr. Nicholson, as Registrar, placed the hoods on those honored, after Sir Arthur Currie's greeting. Acting Dean Harkness, Dean Birkett, Acting Dean Greenshields and Dean Adams presented the distinguished people. The McGill graduates who received the degree of Doctor of Laws were as follows:

Dr. Frank D. Adams, Sci. '78, Vice-President, McGill University; Hon. Mr. Justice Archibald, Arts '67 and Law '70, Acting Chief Justice, Superior Court; Dr. H. S. Birkett, Med. Degrees were conferred "in absentia" to Sir Thomas Roddick, Med. '68, and David Ross McCord, Arts '64.

At the conclusion of the conferring of the degrees Sir Arthur Currie introduced Sir Auckland Geddes, the first of the speakers on behalf of the honorary graduates. Before the war Sir Auckland Geddes was professor of Anatomy returning to England at the outbreak of hostilities where he played an important part in the Great War and is now British Ambassador to the United States.

In opening Sir Auckland expressed the thanks of the honorary graduates for the honour which had been conferred upon them by so great a university as McGill. On his own behalf he expressed the sense of humility and pride which he felt when he reflected that he had been a professor at McGill.

Exactly seven years ago on October 13, 1914 he had left Canada for Europe. The experience gained in those seven years, though filled with sadness, have been of great value to everyone who lived through them.

In reply to Lord Byng's suggestion that the students of McGill should study and benefit by English history, Sir Auckland said that students at McGill did study and benefit by English history. Behind Canadian history lies not only that of England but that of France.

In closing he reiterated the sense of gratitude which he felt to McGill.

The next speaker was Hon. L. A. Taschereau who said that though he himself was not a graduate of McGill he could claim through his maternal grandmother, connection with Charlotte Guilmartin the wife of our distinguished founder. Moreover as prime minister of the province in which the university had been founded and had prospered he felt a right to pride himself upon the occasion of her centenary.

He would not, he said, greatly value his lawyer's gown or his newly acquired degree of Doctor of Laws if he were not able to look back over the list of our distinguished lawyers whose noble aspirations and cultured intelligence had accomplished so much in the realms of law and politics. He expressed however the fear that lawyers and doctors were being graduated from Canadian Universities in such large numbers as to be detrimental to not only to these honorable professions themselves, but to the country at large. He expressed the hope that McGill would send forth men fitted by instruction in commerce industry and agriculture to develop the wonderful resources with which our fair dominion is so liberally endowed.

He spoke of the great part which the journalist plays today. The journalist has a great work to do in forming the opinions of the masses and to perform this important duty, he needs the knowledge required to clothe the day's events in a fitting style. Should not, he asked, the universities play their part in fitting men for this most important duty.

In closing he expressed the hope that from McGill would come men who would be powerful in the industries of our country. He felt that the celebration of today would be renewed even more fervently a hundred years thence and that in that time McGill would still be doing a great work for betterment of moral and physical conditions of the province and of the dominion.

Dr. James Rowland Angell of Yale in the opening words of his address paid homage to the two great soldiers who had led the Canadian Army so gloriously in France. He referred to the large number of Americans who had served with the Canadians in answer to the call of Humanity.

He expressed the deep sense of gratitude which he felt for the honour which McGill had done him and the other Americans who had been granted degrees. The universities of the United States will never forget the distinguished men such as Osler, Rutherford and Peterson, which McGill has given to the world. Canada and United States have a great mission in spreading education throughout the western hemisphere.

"Universities unlike human beings become more powerful and more energetic as they increase in years. McGill be-nificant influence will be felt for centuries to come," Dr. Angell said.

In conclusion he warned us to benefit by the mistakes of the Germans, to give education which will turn out men who had something more than a mere technical knowledge and that we must stand united against the sinister influences of Bolshevism which are menacing our present day civilization.

The last speaker, Dr. Colby a graduate of the class of 1887 and an ex-professor of History opened his address by expressing his great gratitude for the honour done him.

"It is pleasant," he said in the age, which is essentially and necessarily one to progress to take advantage of the numerous centenary celebrations which are being held in honour of Dante, Keats and McGill for retrospection. How gratifying it is to turn for a moment from the future and look back to what has been accomplished in the past."

Dr. Colby drew attention to the fact that a university achieves fame by the works of its graduates. The part played in the great war by McGill's graduates will go down in history for century after century.

In a brilliant conclusion, he said that McGill's reward for its great work in the past lies in its right to continue it in the century upon which it is entering." To doubt the future of McGill would be

NFLD. CLUB DINNER AT THE QUEENS

Need of University in Newfoundland Spoken Of.

ARTHUR MEWS, C.M.G.

Member of First Electrical Class of McGill Speaks

About fifty members of the Newfoundland Club led the way for the Sectional Clubs yesterday at noon, when Luncheon was served in the Queen's Hotel, in honour of the Newfoundland Graduates, who are attending the Reunion. The honoured guests of the hour were Arthur Mews, Esq., C.M.G., Deputy Colonial Secretary for the Colony; J. W. Morris, B. Sc. '94, Mayor W. H. Parsons, M. C., M. D., C. M. '06, A. J. C. Paine, B. Arch. '10 and Capt. C. R. Ayre, Science '08, with C. J. Parsons, Med. '23, who has been elected Rhodes Scholar for Newfoundland, sat with the guests at the head of the festive board.

The meal was partaken of with great delight and the hour profitably spent. After everybody's appetite had disappeared and the delicacies vanquished, President Davis outlined to the visitors the aims of the Club and the success it had attained. "The aims of the Club," said the President are threefold, namely, to bring together all Newfoundlanders studying at the University and to encourage good fellowship, secondly, to foster a love for the Homeland, and thirdly, to make known to the Newfoundland and Students at Home the advantages which McGill offers."

Mr. Davis spoke pessimistically of the present Educational System of Newfoundland with its denominationalism and Prejudice, and appealed to the guests to use their influence to broaden the Educational outlook of the Island. Reference was also made to the fact that at the present time Newfoundlanders have to spend four or more years at a Canadian University for a degree, whereas, if the various religious denominations of the Country pulled together, a University could be supported that could give the first two or more years of a University Training, so that a man coming to McGill, or some other Canadian University, could be able to enter his third year.

Mr. Mews followed the President, and conveyed his best wishes to the club. If Mr. Mews wishes were carried out every Newfoundland student after graduation, would return to Terra Nova. "Service and sacrifice are the things which will always live" exclaimed the speaker, and if returning home after graduation meant a pecuniary disadvantage, the joy of service would be a satisfying recompense. W. J. Morris then spoke very briefly and referred to the many advantages which the McGill students have to day, in comparison with those of even '94. Mr. Morris was in the first electrical class to graduate from McGill.

Major Parsons began his short address by quoting from Stephen Leacock —

TENNIS STARS WILL CONTEST THIS MORNING

Title to Tennis Championship at Stake.

9.30 A.M.

'Varsity Unable to Enter a Team This Season.

The annual intercollegiate tennis tournament is taking place today and tomorrow on the courts of the McGill Tennis Club. The Colleges taking part are Queens, R. M. C., and McGill. Unfortunately Varsity is unable to send a team this year unless a last minute decision is made by the officials of their club. It is hoped that a special meeting will be arranged between McGill and Varsity in the near future. The good weather yesterday hardened the courts and with some rolling, to-day before the games they should be in good shape for the tournament. Play will start at 9.30 A.M., sharp, and it is hoped that a large crowd will be on hand to show McGill's interest in this important branch of sport.

Last year the McGill tennis team won the Intercollegiate championship at Toronto and although we are without the service of some of last year's stars the tennis team this year will make a strong hit for championship honors.

The men wearing McGill colors this year are all newcomers to intercollegiate tennis with the exception of Clyde Ramsey who played last year. The other men on the team are Percy Douglas, Morris, Brown, McDougall and Alec Parker who can be depended on to put up a stiff fight against our competitors. It is regrettable that Toronto is not represented this year but with Queens and R. M. C. in the tournament an interesting three cornered contest will take place. The only thing needful for a great success is that the weather man should provide us with decent tennis weather.

"And thirty dollars was all you paid for that suit? Sounds pretty fishy to me."

"Yes, it's herringbone, you know."

"Luncheon is an abomination and a speech afterwards is worse. Dr. Parsons congratulated the students, on their splendid showing which Newfoundland were making at the University. "It is constructive criticism and not that of a destructive nature which should be given everywhere to day," said the Major. Newfoundland has had hard times but the future outlook is indeed promising.

Capt. Ayre, Mr. Paine and Mr. Parsons continued, each speaking briefly, making reference to the appreciation, which they had for the club.

With the singing of the National anthem and the McGill yell the students dispersed to attend the convocation. Thus ended a social gathering which will live for many days in the lives of all who attended.

INTERMEDIATE POLO PRACTICE REPORT

At yesterday's polo practice some twenty swimmers turned out at the Central Y. M. C. A. The Coach Mr. E. Ver-nut put the members of the club through an hour and a half good hard training in the tank. Although fouls were numerous, there was plenty of life and action, considering how easy it is in the season.

The first game of the year, for the intermediates is rapidly approaching, taking place Wednesday next. It is therefore very essential that everybody should turn out for the practices, so that the team which will be picked from these members may get into as good a form as possible for the game.

The next try out will be on Saturday at 5.15—So all down to the Central Y. M. C. A., immediately after the Rugby Game.

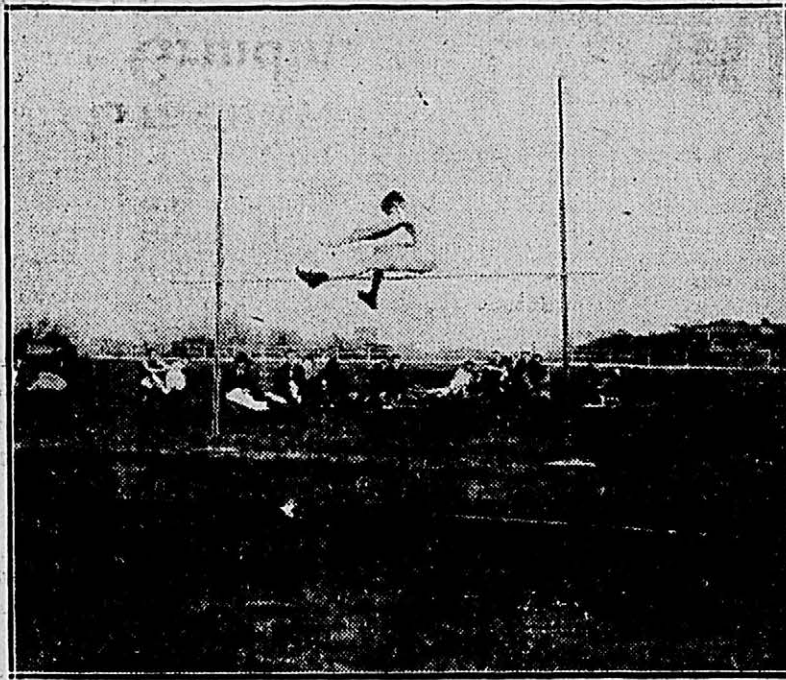

A traveler in Japan tells of curious notices he saw in shop-windows, and especially an official municipal notice to motorists: "If a cow obstruct, toot'er soothingly; if she continue to obstruct, toot'er with vigor; if she still obstruct, wait till she pass away!"

—The Christian Advocate (New York)

Bill — "Have you seen the new toboggan slide?"
Lil — "Why no. I haven't been to a dance for ages."
—Widow.

"Is pants singular or plural?"
"If a man wears 'em it's plural."
"Well, if he doesn't—?"
"It's singular."

Founded on the Physique Type System: Semi-ready Tailored Clothes

WHEN Semi-ready Tailoring system was developed a quarter century ago, ready-made clothes had no standing.

A "ready-made" suit was derided—and deservedly so.

Small retail tailor shops then flourished in every block. An average of 10 or 20 suits a week means a big overhead expense; and a good suit was costly, while a "ready-made" was a sorry affair.

A man with any pretensions to neat dress would not twenty-five years ago think of going into a ready-made shop for his apparel.

The struggle then was all for cheapness. Manufacturers vied with each other to see how cheaply they could turn out a suit for a retailer to sell at $9.98 and still make a handsome profit on each sale. The inevitable trend was the sacrifice of quality and durability. The cheapest, tawdriest materials were used, and where ever any part of the work could be omitted without the buyer discovering the trick, the omission was considered quite in the game.

It was the idea that men were willing to pay a fair price for quality and good workmanship that was the basis of the Semi-ready policy.

The conception of the physique type system, which meant that every shape of man could have his own suit shapely designed to fit him, was, of course, the main idea. But this alone would not bring success to a new venture.

That shoes of the best leather were made in large factories and made better in style and in fitting quality than the ordinary bench shoemaker could make them had been proven. Then why not suits and overcoats?

Within a decade of the conception of the Semi-ready idea Canadians were considered the best dressed men in the civilized world. And they are today.

That men will pay a better price for what they know and feel to be a better article is true today and always. Intelligent men know that a good workman is worth more because his product is substantial and lasting.

The physique type system assures a well-fitting suit or outer garment. It is based on a physiological study of mankind—allowing for the physical shapes caused by occupation and environment. There are:

Semi-ready Suits designed for short slight men.

Semi-ready Suits for short, stout men.

Suits for the average man who keeps his weight right for his stature.

Suits for tall men.

Suits for tall stout men.

Suits for fat men.

Suits for chesty men, and others for men of large girth at the waist.

Naturally the designer has to make patterns to fit each variation of type—the Erect, the Stopping, the Sloping and the High Shoulder.

And when the suits are tailored to the try-on stage, he must leave outlets for alterations to fit any variation from the type for which the garment is designed.

A suit designed for a coal miner, whose bulky shoulders are abnormally developed, could not be made to fit an office man, or a man whose work has developed his hips rather than his shoulders.

It was quickly found that the most expensively woven woollens, the finest and purest wool cloths, could be made up into suits by the tailor in the Semi-ready Shops without any risk. They would find an admiring buyer.

No man who thinks wisely or who has taste and discrimination in clothes can but admit that the Semi-ready Shop can fulfil his most particular need.

The good clothes shop is on a higher plane.

Savings Command Respect

Take yourself, for instance. You know that you respect those men who have Bank Accounts and are saving to buy a home or start in business for themselves. A Savings Account commands the respect of people worth while; is an asset in business; and a good recommendation for any man. You can start a Savings Account with as little as $1. and add to it as you wish, in sums of $1. upwards.
